After Being Long Dormant Likely to Break Out Afresh. HIGH PRICES FOR CRUDE OIL

The Supply Last Year Fell Below the Demand by Several Million Bar-rels. New Wells Being Drilled. Standard Oil Buying Lands

Crude oil at $1.80 may mean a great deal to Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia. It recalls the times when everybody who chanced to own a timber patch or a cow pasture in the oilfields was speculating on the chance of becoming a millionaire.

There was something which appealed to the imagination in the oil region 20 year ago. Fortunes were made and lost. Life was fast. Towns boomed and the traveling theatrical troop prospered.

The country looked crude and smelled of petroleum. It was not a desirable residence for the person who wished elegauce and refined surroundings. But there was a fascination about the coun-try and the people all the same.

The oil fever is perhaps to break out again after long being dormant. That will depend on the permanence of the causes which shall be found to have led to the present rise in price.

New wells may be drilled and some new territories opened up, but the real significance of the upward movement is to be found in the effect exerted on the oil producing industry as at present con-

oil producing industry as at present con-

For several years the owner of oil lands has found it of little use to devel-op them. The refiners were able to command so abundant supplies without long transportation that the price of crude oil was kept at an almost impossible figure for the producer.

Last year the total number of wells completed was only 3,548. The produc-tion in 12 months amounted to 48,500, 000 barrels. This supply did not meet the demand by 6,800,000 barrels. The natural result of long depressed prices has come. American oil is better than Asiatic. The demand for export has been large without having been for a long time felt by the producer or enabling him to get better rates.

The number of new wells in course of construction on April 1 is stated as 1.401—almost half the entire number drilled last year. New pipes are going down all through the Penusylvania and Ohio fields, and old wells are being torpedced anew to increase their flow.

Many observers believe that this new activity is to continue, notwithstanding the natural tendency to return to low prices when an increased production

THE "THIRD DEGREE."

Employed It In a Recent Murder Case,

I wonder how many people know what the "third degree" really is. Col-umns have been written about it, but I have never yet seen an accurate descrip tion of the process of extorting from the criminal a confession on the Byrnes plan. It is simple enough, however. The famous New York superintendent merely organizes modern inquisition in the deep recesses of his retreat at police headquarters and marshals his facts be-
